

The Literacy Principal in Action Series

For Principals and Administrators

Principals make change happen when they foster a community that allows risk taking based on a collaboration of professional learning that leads to best practices. Understanding the guiding principles and practices of literacy is the foundation for assessing instruction that fosters student growth and independence.

Discussion will focus on how to:

- Create a shared literacy vision that is clear and shaped by the uniqueness of your school community
- Work as a school literacy team leader supporting teachers in their professional learning
- Build a collaborative time for professional learning
- Prepare your school community to mediate the literate world outside your school within your school
